

September 2008

Hello Bacchanalians,

It has to be said that that was a stormy August. Sutton harbour has been really quiet with very few boats going in and out. The seas have been quite rough too underlining the joy of Sutton Harbour Marina being behind lock gates. Calm amongst the storm!

Anyway life goes on and we must now look forward to a lovely September instead! Optimism is a wonderful thing if mixed with the right spirit.

During September we are going to keep our "second main course on us" promotion going for lunchtime bookings in advance. It's a very good deal and has been very popular over the last month so our "in for a penny, in for a pound" philosophy persuaded us to keep it going for September too.

Take Away Puddings! Now this has been a really successful idea too. You love them but sometimes just can't fit them in. So we put them in a box and you can eat them in bed! Just order at the table.

We are also keeping our bedroom offer at Turtley Corn Mill (www.avonwick.net) on again for September. We've had a really busy summer but we can still squeeze a few more nights in! The special offer on them for September is £59.95 per person, offering you dinner (anything from our menu) and bed and breakfast on any night of the week except Saturday. All you pay extra for is coffee and what ever you drink. The only condition is that it must be booked no more than one month ahead.

The rooms, even though we say so ourselves, are fantastic, the best beds you'll ever sleep on, Sky Freeview TV, hard wired internet, lovely bathrooms with powerful showers, blissfully quiet, and a great pub underneath. Perfect for business or leisure.

Finally, Bacchanalia's Christmas bookings are well and truly under way with over half the available spaces now taken. I know it seems ages away but the time to book is now – don't leave it until we have to say "sorry but no". Call or email for a Christmas pack to be sent to you.

Here's to September – the sunshine month.

See you soon,

Leanne, Lesley & Bruce.
